Juniper Networks introduces Next Generation Data Center Acceleration solutions beyond just Server Load Balancing

Solution Brief

Are you rebuilding your data center with Web-based business systems to improve business productivity, efficiency and agility while being the pioneer to reduce IT overhead cost? Juniper Networks' Data Acceleration (DA) application acceleration solutions deliver a complete data center optimization solution for web content and IP-based business applications. The DA product provides the most complete, integrated and unified application delivery solution for the distributed enterprise by:

- Web-enabled application acceleration
- Data center infrastructure and bandwidth cost reduction
- Increasing server capacity
- Increasing application and data center security

How does it benefit customer:

- Provides Web acceleration through caching and compression
- Increases server capacity allowing customers to optimize existing content & application only. Offload client connections from the Web server to J-Partners.

Juniper JUNOS giving you the power to choose

What is JUNOS?

One OS, One interface, One code, the only One you need

JUNOS software is the single network operating system of Juniper. As a single, uniform system, JUNOS software provides one experience across all platforms with a consistent implementation for new features.

One common interface allows operations staff to configure and manage JUNOS platforms in the same way with the same effect throughout the network. Further, the consistency of JUNOS software simplifies the job of knowledge necessary to create current with code updates and streamlines the qualification, deployment, and maintenance of software releases.

The single code base of JUNOS software is also the essential underpinning to its strong legacy of high reliability and stability. One system enables Juniper to rapidly deploy platforms, features, and fixes as well as to flexibly integrate new technologies and also readily extend JUNOS software to newer platforms for meeting next-generation needs.

In order to consistently deliver software that meets both schedule and quality

The Roman numeral for five is V, which comes from a representation of an outstretched hand. The middle and forefinger held up to form the letter V commonly denotes victory. Over time, the letter with its middle, ring, and pinky fingers extended and joined. Words that are particularly relevant to BP. Come find out what this is significant for BP as we celebrate turning 70!
